Trekking in Trust

Now faith is the assurance of what is hoped for and the proof of what is not seen. For by it our ancestors received God's approval.

(Hebrews 11:1-2)

The Triumph and Travail of "the Quest"

Long before the three-hour big screen saga that stunts our imagination by creating and conjuring for us, people employed a different method of fanciful entertainment. Generations of people, after cracking the spine of a book, have engaged their own mind's eye by immersing themselves in the imaginative world of some of the greatest written stories of all time.

One such genre that seems to dominate is the epic tale. Stories of adventure and achievement have long been a masterful literary narrative. From Homer's Odyssey to Twain's The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, or Melville's Moby Dick and Tolkien's The Hobbit, seemingly countless are the books that embody the triumphs and travails of "the quest".

"What Shall I Do?"

Aside from Holy Scripture, my favorite epic adventure book is John Bunyan's The Pilgrim's Progress.

Technically classified as an allegory, in this work Bunyan tells of Christian's (the main character) harrowing, soul-threatening journey toward the Celestial City. What's fascinating about this book is the way in which the story probes deeper into the spiritual journey, albeit the quest, we embark on once we trust

Jesus Christ by faith. In fact, The Pilgrim's Progress is descriptive of the soul-searching journey to which each of us is called by Almighty God. Bunyan opens his epic tale with this scene:

As I walked through the wilderness of this world, I came to a certain place where there was a cave; and I lay down in that place to sleep. As I slept, I dreamed a dream, and in this dream I saw a man clothed in rags, standing in a place with his face turned away from his own house. He had a book in his hand and a heavy burden upon his back.

I looked and saw him open the book and begin to read; and as he read, he wept and trembled. Not being able to contain himself, he cried out in a loud voice, "What shall I do?"

Two Hands, One Rescue

Throughout this summer, we are exploring the answer to Christian's cry, "What shall I do?", by studying the message of Hebrews 11. The straight-forward answer to Christian's plea is faith in Jesus Christ. You see, God in Christ reaches His hand of grace out to each of us. We, in turn, must reach back with our hand of faith. These two hands meet in Christ, and leads to one great rescue, our rescue from the despair of brokenness, the heartache of hopelessness, and the anguish of life's uncertainties. Two hands, one rescue.

The great question, then, is this: will I reach out my hand of faith to lay hold of God's hand of grace in Christ? That's what we are about at Trinity Presbyterian Church. We'd love for you to join us, for we are a community of disciples who are embarking on the epic adventure of trekking in trust with Jesus.

You may not have even noticed...

We have new blinds in the kitchen! Because they are cordless, you only need to gently pull or push to open and close them. No tangled cords!

Thank you to those who kindly donated to make these blinds happen.

Several friends of mine requested a tree be planted on the church property in memory and honor of my father, George Goeth. Through their generosity, along with other funds from the church, a 'Sterling Linden' was planted in the area near the play ground.

A vigorous growing tree, the 'Sterling Linden' has a very neat and symmetrical shape. Its two-tone leaves, dark green about and silver below, shimmer in the slightest breeze. The Linden is a draught tolerant, durable and beautiful tree, which thrives in some of the toughest locations. They average 45' to 60' high and spread 35'. Their fall color is yellow.

Since I am moving to Florida, it pleases me to know that there will be a living memorial to dad at Trinity.

It has been said that to plant a garden (tree) is to believe in the future. I believe in the future of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Love and blessing to you all.

A Thank You from Marie Farris:

"I'd like to offer my heartfelt thanks for all the cards, calls, flowers, and visits during my recent stays at Jefferson Place for rehab. Each one was a boost to my spirit.

"I am so thankful for my church family! I am back at home and continuing therapy. God bless you all."

Trinity is involved in a recovery program called, The Healing Place of Louisville. Our connection is simple: we collect and share with this mission empty prescription bottles to be used for dispensing medications to those recovering from addictions.

The program originated in 1994 by a recovering addict, Jay Davidson. Various forms of help such as food, housing, and clothing is given in four stages: detox, motivational track, recovery stage, and continuing care. Clients may become peer mentors as they progress in the program. This allows them to not only assist folks in their recovery, but it opens doors to new friendships.

The Healing Place program provides a safe environment allowing those in recovery to get clean, understand the source of their addiction, build self-esteem, and give them hope for the future.

The success of this effort has been dramatic. The recent recovery rate has been calculated at 83%. And only 5% have failed to experience recovery. The success sometimes goes even deeper. One beneficiary of the program, after being invited to a friend's church for Bible Study, eventually trusted Christ as their Savior!

If you would like to join the effort to help, please collect any empty prescription bottles you may have. You can give them to Sheryl Yoffee, Carol Redd, or leave them in the receptionist's office. Thank you.

Summer Fun Day 2019

Sunday, July 14 from 4 to 6pm.

COME ONE, COME ALL!!!

Do you have any talent you'd like to share? Maybe you have some hidden talent. We have the perfect opportunity for you! Trinity is once again having a Summer Fun Day. This event last year was so successful that we want to do it again.

Songs, stories, musical instruments, dramatic readings, dance or anything entertaining. Everyone is welcome to share their talent.

Refreshments will be provided so come that afternoon and be prepared to have a wonderful time of fellowship.

There is a sign-up sheet on the Worship Committee bulletin board. Show us your best talent in front of the best audience ever, your friends.

Please sign-up by July 7th indicating your name and talent (music, drama, etc.)

See you there!
